SAMMY CHUNG

ALTHOUGH this is the time of year when there should be peace on earth and goodwill to all men I can disclose that several players' ears were "burning" in our dressing room after the Chelsea game last Saturday. I was very disappointed that we should drop a point and so were the players.

It was an absolute tragedy to have seen a 3-1 lead destroyed in the space of five careless minutes. The pity of it was that the side, the midfield and attack in particular had played so well to almost run the young Chelsea team off the park. But then we made those two bad defensive errors to squander a point.

The first Chelsea goal was bad enough. But the last two were shockers. I don't particularly wish to knock the defence in public. Mistakes do occur. But I am concerned about the number of goals we are conceding and the players know they have got to tighten up and be more disciplined.

I always endeavour to take a philosophical view of soccer on occasions like this and I recall that we were perhaps lucky to score that late equaliser at Notts County last month. It is often said that these things have a habit of equaling themselves out, and, I suppose, that is the way to regard the Chelsea game. But we have now arrived at a very vital period in the season with five games — against Bolton, Bristol Rovers, Cardiff, Millwall and Blackpool — coming up in the space of the next 16 days. I don't have to remind supporters how important it is that the side does well in these games aiming to pick up as many points as possible.

The players are certainly in the right frame of mind to tackle the games which could obviously have a very big bearing on the outcome of Second Division promotion issue in May. I gave them two days off this week. They deserved the break. They have worked hard so far this season and their fitness has now reached a level where they really only need to be "topped" up just before match days.

It rather looks as if Willie Carr will not be available now until the New Year, although he is coming along nicely following his sciatica trouble. But Mike Bailey is back in full harness again and it is comforting to know that I have him on hand for the busy time ahead.

Finally, on behalf of the players and myself we would like to wish you all a very Happy Christmas. We shall be trying to make it even happier for you by gaining the right results. Thank you for your great support. It really is appreciated . . . and please keep it up.

HAPPY CHRISTMAS

TO ALL OUR FANS

IN this Centenary Year it gives me great pleasure on behalf of the directors of the club, the players and the staff to wish all our supporters a very Happy Christmas and a bright New Year.

The directors and I believe that we have enjoyed a reasonable and successful season so far and we are all living in hope that when May comes round Wolverhampton Wanderers will have their place back in the First Division.

This has to be our main objective and I would like to state publicly now my appreciation for the support the club has received from so many sources. Attendances have been encouraging, although we would always like to see more people at our games, and we have scored a "first" by obtaining local firms to sponsor some of our games.

The board has several exciting new plans for the future which will be announced shortly. But, for the time being, everybody associated with the club would like to say a big thank you for your loyalty and dedication to the Wolves.

HARRY J. MARSHALL
Chairman

BOLTON

MILLIONS of BBC "Match of the Day" devotees have seen the look of almost total despair in the face of Bolton's manager Ian Greaves during the opening shots of the popular Saturday night programme. It could virtually be described as an intrusion into private grief.

Greaves might well dispute this fact. But the popular Bolton manager is determined that his side will never again squander their chances of winning promotion to the First Division as they did last season.

Bolton, a club who were favourites to go up for most of last season until West Bromwich Albion pipped them at the last hurdle, are riding the crest of a wave at the moment. They are through to the semi-finals of the League Cup and their performances in the Second Division are perhaps even more convincing than they were last campaign.

The prospects look good at Burnden Park as the halfway stage of the season comes up and the way the side has been playing has made their fiercely partisan supporters proud to be members of the club.

Lack of a really prolific goalscorer in the vital stages last season almost certainly cost Bolton promotion to the First Division.

But worries on this particular score this term have been lifted by the finishing of Steve Taylor. The young striker, who was loaned to Port

IAN GREAVES Manager

STEVE TAYLOR

WANDERERS

Vale last year, has really exploded on the scene with 15 League and Cup goals.

Taylor has linked most effectively with Neil Whatmore, last season's top scorer, and Bolton have proved that they can now live with the best.

Proof of this was clearly shown by their thrilling League Cup quarter-final success over Derby County.

Greaves has gathered together a fine blend of experience and youth. Peter Thompson, the ex-Liverpool and England winger, Willie Morgan, the ex-Manchester United and Scotland winger and Tony Dunne, the ex-Manchester United and Eire defender, provide all the experience.

And the youthful element in the team such as Taylor and Whatmore are well supported by such versatile performers as Roy Greaves and club skipper John Ritson.

Goalkeeper Jim McDonagh joined the club on a month's loan from Rotherham. He impressed and was signed for a £10,000 fee and won immediate promotion when Barry Siddall was sold to Sunderland for £100,000.

Full-back Ritson went to Burnden Park from schoolboy soccer and graduated through the junior sides. He is partnered by Dunne, the Eire international, who played most of his career with Manchester United being a member of their European Cup winning side.

Midfield player Greaves is one of the key members of the side. A non-stop worker, he completed ten years with Bolton and had a testimonial game in the close season.

Centre-back Paul Jones was a member of the England Under-23 squad last year. He is a commanding player in the middle of the defence and is very good in the air.

Jones receives support from Sam Allardyce, a strong-tackling defender, who was born at Brierley Hill. In his first full campaign last season he was voted "Player of the Year" by Wanderers supporters.

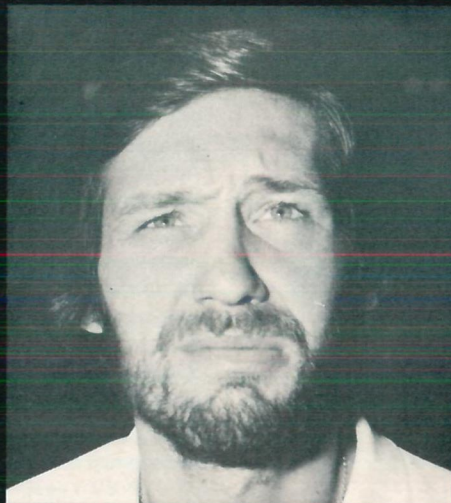

Another key midfielder man is Peter Reid. He was discovered playing at schools level and he came to the fore last season when he was a regular member of the side.

Wingers Thompson and Morgan have both won most of the honours in the game with their former respective clubs, Liverpool and Manchester United. And they are still very skilful players.

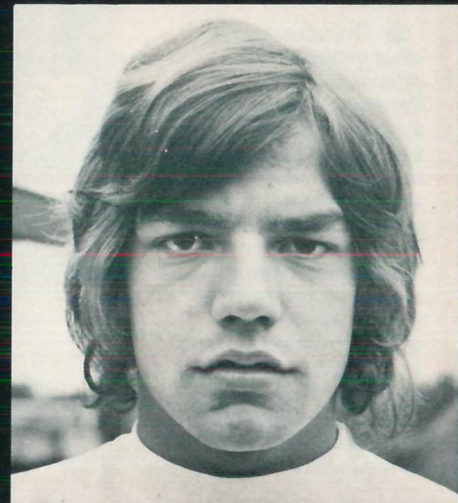

The support strikers to Taylor and Whatmore are Garry Jones, who scored 13 goals last season, and Hughie Curran, who needs no introduction to the Molineux crowd. Hughie had a series of knee operations last year but he has now regained full fitness.

PROFILE

PETER THOMPSON

BILL SHANKLY describes Peter Thompson as one of the best wingers he has ever seen — and when the former Liverpool manager makes a statement of that magnitude it is seldom disputed.

Thompson is certainly a very fine left-winger and the years do not appear to have diminished his considerable skills or ability.

The Carlisle-born player is now 34, but he is still the scourge of Second Division defences and he is very much a favourite with the Burnden Park faithful.

He first came to prominence playing in Preston North End's youth team and soon the scouts from all the top clubs were flocking to watch his educated wing-play.

Preston, a veritable birthplace of wingers with Tom Finney perhaps the greatest of them all, were loath to lose him. But the persuasive tongue of Shankly eventually lured him away to Anfield for a £70,000 fee.

Thompson was a revelation with Liverpool and during his 317 games with the Merseysiders he won just about every honour in the game.

But the tragedy was that he won only 16 England caps and this was undoubtedly because he played in the days of Alf Ramsey's "wingless wonders." He would surely have been capped many more times if he had played when wingers were fashionable.

Ironically, wingers are back in vogue and Thompson, although hampered by injuries this season, is now enjoying something of an Indian summer.

Today could be a unique occasion for him if he turns out against the Wolves because it might mark his 550th League game. (Before last Saturday he had played 548 games and he was scheduled to have played at Hereford on Tuesday night.)

Thompson will most probably not be too concerned about breaking any appearance records. But he still has a burning desire to be playing in the First Division again next season with Bolton.

SOCCER ON ICE . . . WOLVES STYLE

SUPER Wolves literally skated to a superb 4-0 victory over luckless Plymouth Argyle at Molineux a fortnight ago. Luckless because Plymouth just never had a chance on the frostbound pitch that Wolves found just to their liking. Manager Sammy Chung said afterwards: "We could have had 10 goals from that display." And he wasn't being unfair to Plymouth. They just met their masters.

The goals came from Alan Sunderland, Kenny Hibbitt and, of course, John Richards, who grabbed two. Richards has, in fact, now scored 7 goals from four games which makes everybody wonder how many he might have scored if he had been available all season! Our photographer has captured two of the scorers — Hibbitt (below) still managing to get the ball away after he had slipped on the surface and Richards acknowledging the roar of the crowd after his second.

AROUND THE SUPPORTERS' CLUBS . . .

STEVE KINDON had some very favourable things to say about the Wolverhampton London Supporters Club in his weekly column "Kondon's Korner" in the Wolverhampton Chronicle recently.

Steve was the guest of honour at their tenth anniversary celebrations after the Orient game and he wrote: "The Wolves fans will have been swelled at Orient by over 200 members of the Wolverhampton Wanderers Supporters Club. These people must rate amongst our most loyal supporters. For them, a home match means up to a 250 miles round trip. One member I know travels from Southampton every Saturday.

"Last Saturday night they held their tenth anniversary dance in London. I went along to represent the club and to make the draw for their raffle prizes. At the last moment I was asked to make a speech, which is not my scene at all.

"However, everything went all right and to meet these true and keen supporters and to be able to chat to them for a few hours was an experience I am glad I did not miss."
Well said, Steve. You are a firm favourite with the London branch now.

DICK JOHNSON, secretary of the Sheriffhales Branch near Shifnal, has written to inform me that all the tickets for the Christmas dance on December 29 have now been sold. This is another lively branch and their dance will undoubtedly be another swinging affair.

ITEMS of news from the numerous supporters' clubs are welcome for publication in the match-day magazine. Please send your contributions to the Editor, Sunderland Print Ltd., Forge Lane, Halesowen, West Midlands.

FAREWELL JANET

WOLVES say farewell to Mrs. Janet Gilbert after today's game with Bolton Wanderers. Janet has been secretary to club secretary, Phil Shaw, for eight years and her smiling and happy personality will be missed at Molineux. The players and staff all wish her well for the future and hope that she will still find time to attend some of the games.

MIKE'S SMILE SAYS IT ALL...

CLUB SKIPPER Mike Bailey was presented with a cheque of £10,621.82 last week from the proceeds of his testimonial match. The cheque was handed over at a special dinner with the chairman of the Wolverhampton Sportsmen's Committee, Charles Lewis (pictured below) doing the honours. The Committee helped to organise the testimonial and Mike took the opportunity of thanking them all for their considerable work on his behalf.

WHO says there is no democracy in football? Manager Sammy Chung has recently established a players' committee at Molineux which consists of club captain, Mike Bailey, two first teamers, two reserve team players and two apprentices. The object is for the committee to discuss future plans and to air any problems or grievances which might occur during the season.

Said the manager, who takes the chair at the meetings: "The committee has so far dealt very successfully with a number of items. We feel this is a very fair way for the whole staff to make their grouses and it all helps to improve the spirit within the club."

DR. HENRY KISSINGER, outgoing American Secretary of State was a distinguished visitor at Stamford Bridge for our game with Chelsea last Saturday. Club secretary Phil Shaw said Dr. Kissinger was most impressed.

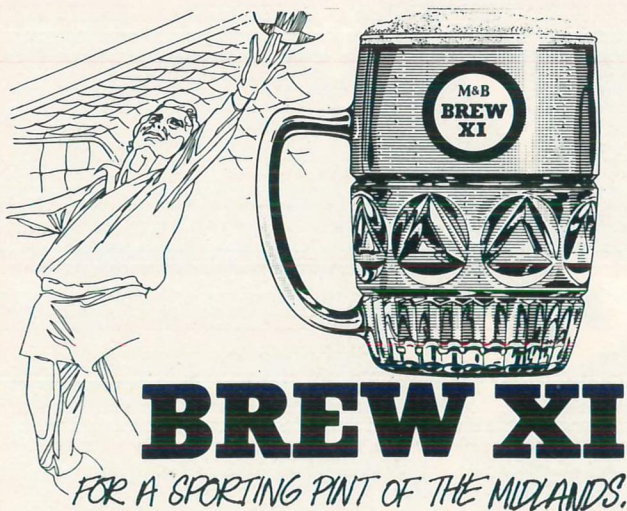

"He showed a very good knowledge of football and was most courteous to everybody he spoke to. He said he enjoyed the game very much and he also spoke highly of the quality of the football." The Flying Doctor did not, however, comment on who deserved to win. Very diplomatic!

CLUB skipper Mike Bailey will be back for Christmas — if required.

Bailey has successfully overcome his Achilles tendon problems. He played for the reserves last Saturday in the 2-1 victory over Bolton and came through without any trouble. Bailey's guidance and experience could be a vital factor over the next 16 days as the club go through an extremely busy fixture list of five games. It is followed by the FA Cup third round tie at Molineux on Saturday, January 8. At the time of going to Press both York and Rotherham were still locked in battle arranging their second round replay.

FIXTURE NOTES. Please do not forget that the next home Second Division game against Cardiff City on Wednesday, December 29, kicks off at 7.30 p.m. It has also been decided that the following home game against Blackpool on Monday, January 3, will be timed for 7.30. It has been changed because many local factories are working that day as normal.

CONGRATULATIONS to Alan Sunderland and Martin Patching who won further England recognition this week. Alan played for England Under-21 against Wales at Molineux on Wednesday Night. And Martin was in the England Youth side against West Bromwich Albion Under-19 at The Hawthorns the previous night.
